

AFRICA COLLABORATION COLLOQUIUM

28 – 29 AUGUST 2012

NITTANY LION INN, 200 WEST PARK AVENUE
STATE COLLEGE, PENNSYLVANIA

Sparking durable person-to-person partnerships that deliver solutions to global food security challenges through science, technology and innovation networks

JOIN US: The 2012 Africa Collaboration Colloquium offers a unique setting in which to pursue three aims: knowledge sharing, relationship building, and skill deepening. More than a conference, the two-day event is a structured match-making between African and American university participants.

The African Challengers represent distinguished researchers poised to contribute to Africa's agricultural development through the application of research and innovation. We invite US-based faculty and students to join us for this novel opportunity to forge impact-oriented partnerships focused on solving specific food security challenges.

GUIDING OBJECTIVES:

Knowledge Sharing

Relationship Building

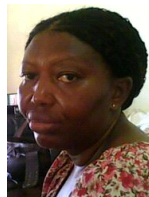

Skill Deepening

SPECIAL THANKS TO:

TO REGISTER: Contact Deanna Behring, Director of International Programs, PSU College of Agricultural Sciences at dmb37@psu.edu. Participation is limited and will be reserved on a first-come, first-served basis.

Presenting our African Challengers in Food Security

Everline Komutunga

Fred Kabi

Peter Ebanyat

Michael Kansime

Newton Nyairo

Kennedy Mwetu

Emmanuel Ariga