Bayer CropScience

Bayer Crop Science is the agriculture division of Bayer, a Life Science company with a more than 150-year history and core competencies in the areas of health care and agriculture. With our innovative products, we are contributing to finding solutions to some of the major challenges of our time. A growing and aging world population requires an adequate supply of food and improved medical care. Our research and development activities are therefore focused on improving people’s quality of life by preventing, alleviating and treating diseases. At the same time, we are making an important contribution to provide a reliable supply of high-quality food, feed and plant-based raw materials for a growing world population on the limited land available. This is one goal of the Crop Science division, which has businesses in crop protection, seeds and nonagricultural applications. We want to contribute to global food security through an environmentally friendly and sustainable increase in agricultural productivity. Our innovation strength is intended to benefit both our customers and society as a whole and be the source of our long-term growth. Crop Science’s strategy is built on, leading the way in innovation, increasing customer centricity and promoting and further developing sustainable farming practices.

Chobani

After moving to New York from his native Turkey, Chobani’s founder and CEO Hamdi Ulukaya found that in America, yogurt just wasn’t as delicious and widely available as it was back home. He believed everyone deserved better options, so he set about making delicious, nutritious, natural and accessible Greek yogurt right here in the United States. “Better food for more people.” It’s a simple precept, but one that drives Chobani forward every day. From that first revived yogurt factory in New Berlin, New York, to a gleaming state-of-the-art facility in Twin Falls, Idaho, to an international foothold in Dandenong, Australia and beyond—in the few short years since its debut, Chobani has climbed to the top of the yogurt category and turned Greek yogurt into a household staple.

Our CCA Certified Agronomists work together with you to understand your operation and customize a plan to help you maximize your profitability.

Our expert equipment sales and service teams are able to assist you with all your equipment needs. We use only the most trusted brands for farm, commercial, and industrial equipment.

We were farmers first before we were in the Ag Services business, and our family continues to farm today. In fact, there isn’t a service that Deerfield Ag Services provides that we don’t use for our own family farm. Our family farm is a “testing ground” where we try out new practices and products, and make sure we have them right before we offer them to our customers. And because we’re still farmers, we understand exactly what the unique challenges of the season are—from weeds to weather—which helps us keep our commitment to cultivate profitability together.

Successful creativity is a fundamental principle at Huber Engineered Woods. We search for new ways to solve building problems. We never settle for the expected or accepted norm, and always search for methods that will help us deliver the highest quality products and service possible. It’s a different way of doing business. Not just innovative thinking, not simply maverick approaches, but creativity that makes a difference. With a dedicated R&D and Innovation Group, we develop products to solve specific problems and to meet specific customer needs. We operate under a philosophy of continuous improvement in quality products, and value customer input, seeking their ideas on product enhancements or new products needed to fill market voids. Imagine a company that consistently surprises its customers with innovative products, yet keeps those products affordable. People want to do business with a company they can trust to help them resolve problems and deliver on their promises. That company is Huber. From the expert scientists in research and development to the dedicated sales team, Huber Engineered Woods’ primary goal is to provide solutions for customers across an array of industries. Huber’s cutting-edge advances in the way its products are made and installed make customers ask for them by name. And, the reputation of the company’s people as partners in industry solutions is one that has never wavered during the 130 years since the company’s inception.

Turkey Hill Dairy

Located in the rich farming country of Lancaster County, Pa., Turkey Hill Dairy produces the fifth largest-selling premium ice cream brand and one of the leading refrigerated iced tea brands in the nation. Over the past 20 years, Turkey Hill has tripled in size and now sells products in 49 states and a dozen countries on three continents. Guided by traditional values and inspired by its family-owned heritage, Turkey Hill Dairy considers all of its associates, partners and customers a part of the Turkey Hill family. The company believes part of its corporate responsibility is to be a good steward of its resources, community, and the world, and is actively defining and implementing green initiatives to cut down on waste, reduce packaging, and minimize outputs into the environment. To put its core values of sustainability into practice, Turkey Hill even generates 25 percent of the Dairy’s annual electricity needs by harnessing wind power through its own wind turbines located onsite at the Dairy. For more information on Turkey Hill Dairy, visit turkeyhill.com, read its blog, the Ice Cream Journal, or follow Turkey Hill Dairy on Twitter or on Facebook.

University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine

At Penn Vet, we think differently about veterinary medicine. In addition to providing sophisticated medical treatments for animals of every size and kind, we believe veterinarians play an integral part in ensuring public health and food safety at both local and global levels, recognizing and controlling foreign and newly emerging diseases of livestock and poultry, including diseases transmissible from animals to people. Our mission comprises teaching, healing, and scientific investigation. We believe that as veterinarians, we not only practice medicine and conduct groundbreaking research to advance all medicine, we teach the next generation to do the same. We believe future veterinarians should serve as the frontline, guarding against bio- and agro-terrorism and working to protect the environment, all the while advancing the forefront of biomedical research. At Penn Vet, we lead the way for veterinarians of tomorrow.

Our mission is to protect the health and value of American agriculture and natural resources. The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service is a multi-faceted agency with a broad mission area that includes protecting and promoting U.S. agricultural health, regulating genetically engineered organisms, administering the Animal Welfare Act and carrying out wildlife damage management activities. These efforts support the overall mission of USDA, which is to protect and promote food, agriculture, natural resources and related issues. To protect agricultural health, APHIS is on the job 24 hours a day, 7 days a week working to defend America’s animal and plant resources from agricultural pests and diseases. In the event that a pest or disease of concern is detected, APHIS implements emergency protocols and partners with affected States to quickly manage or eradicate the outbreak.

To promote the health of U.S. agriculture in the international trade arena, APHIS develops and advances science-based standards with trading partners to ensure America’s agricultural exports, worth more than $50 billion annually, are protected from unjustified restrictions. In response to needs expressed by the American people and Congress, APHIS’s mission has expanded over the years to include such issues as wildlife damage and disease management; regulation of genetically engineered crops and animal welfare; and protection of public health and safety as well as natural resources that are vulnerable to invasive pests and pathogens. While carrying out its diverse protection responsibilities, APHIS makes every effort to address the needs of all stakeholders involved in the U.S. agricultural sector.

The Wenger Group

The Wenger Group was founded in 2015 as a holding company for Wenger Feeds LLC, Nutrify LLC, and Dutchland Farms LLC. The companies housed in the Wenger Group are wholly owned entities. Founded in 1944, Wenger Feeds is a manufacturer of poultry and swine feeds headquartered in Rheems, Pa., and serving the Mid-Atlantic region. Wenger Feeds operates mills in Rheems, Mount Joy, Lancaster, Spring Glen, Shippensburg, and Muncy, Pa., and Massey, Md. The company also operates a truck garage and soybean processing plant in Elizabethtown, Pa. Wenger Feeds customers provide eggs, poultry, and pork food products to the Mid-Atlantic region, an area that comprises nearly one-fifth of the U.S. population. Founded in 2015, Nutrify distributes performance feed ingredients throughout the Northeast United States. Located in Lancaster County, Pa., we specialize in feed ingredient resale and distribution, along with warehousing and transloading services, for the feed industry. Nutrify operates a warehouse in Manheim and a Transload facility in Landisville, Pa. Originally founded in 1962, Dutchland Farms offers wholesale egg marketing, pullet growing, and flock service. WFM Transport provides professional commercial transportation equipment and services to Wenger Feeds, Nutrify, Dutchland Farms, and other customers.

Wildlife for Everyone Foundation

The Wildlife for Everyone Foundation is a not-for-profit (501 C-3) organization that provides much-needed financial support for wildlife conservation efforts and education throughout Pennsylvania. Since its inception in 2004, the foundation has raised millions of dollars to support projects including wildlife and wetland habitat improvements, creek and lake restorations, the Seedlings for Schools program, and student educational opportunities. The Foundation has extended its mission to young adults through the establishment of a collegiate chapter at Penn State. In addition, a wildlife scholarship fund was established to award students interested in wildlife conservation with financial support and internships to advance their career interests. Through the fulfillment of its mission, the Foundation connects all wildlife and nature enthusiasts to the great outdoors, including birders, hunters, anglers, students, and everyone with an appreciation for nature’s treasures.
