

Joseph Cordivano, Sr. Memorial Award

The Joseph Cordivano, Sr. Memorial Award was established by a kind and generous endowment from Penn State alumnus, Ben Cordivano, in honor of his late grandfather, a dedicated mushroom farmer. More information about the establishment of the award can be found at

<http://live.psu.edu/story/33779>

Eligibility: Consideration for this award shall be given to all undergraduate students minoring in International Agriculture (INTAG) in the Department of Agricultural Economics, Sociology and Education (AESE) in the College of Agricultural Sciences at The Pennsylvania State University who are fulfilling educational and professional objectives through participation in an agricultural education and/or agriculturally related study abroad program.

Application Procedure: By December 1, eligible students must submit written proposals that define the educational and professional objectives they will meet by participating in an agricultural education and/or agriculturally related study abroad program. Funds requested must be for a study abroad program to be completed by the following June. Please submit a proposal no longer than one page, detailing the following:

- For what program you will use the award
- How the award will benefit you and enhance your involvement in international agriculture and agricultural and extension education
- How you will use the award to further the INTAG minor program itself
- How you will use the award to enhance the Dept. of AEE

Applicants who are selected for the award, but at some point withdraw from their study abroad program, will be responsible for returning the financial award.

Please email written proposals to Dr. Diane McLaughlin, Professor of Rural Sociology and Demography, at dkk@psu.edu AND Tom Gill, International Agriculture Minor Advisor, at tbg12@psu.edu by December 1 at 5pm Eastern Time. The selected recipient(s) will be notified in early January.